Grandma, I will miss the many nights weve spent together shopping, watching movies, creating bead necklaces, and decorating and shopping for Halloween and Christmas. One of my fondest memories as a child was when You and Pappy created a haunted backyard on Halloween night and we all sat as a family roasting marshmallows and telling ghost stories. Ill also miss going down the backroads of Poolesville with you telling different ghost stories about each road scaring the pants off me and Tina lol. Tina and I giggled about you today when remembering how annoyed you got that Tina and I wanted to watch the movies Superstar and Jumanji so much that you gave us your copy of the movies so you wouldnt have to watch them again while we visited. I have soooo many great and wonderful stories of you I could tell because you were so involved in all of our lives like a second mom and I am grateful to have those memories. Until we meet again at those pearly gates, Ill love you forever and keep your memory alive with recounting my memories of you and retelling the scary stories once told to me by you.
