In 1977 my husband and I and our small children moved to the Middle East. I was overwhelmed with the cultural adjustment. Then, I met Violet. She came to my house, slipped off her shoes, curled up on my couch, and with compassion and kindness and understanding helped me through the new life we had chosen. She became a sister, a friend, a confidant, and above all an encourager. I loved her profoundly, and am immeasurably grateful to have shared Kingdom work together.
